DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference signs mentioned in the description: None of the elements are labeled. All elements of the applicant's invention must be labeled. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

2. All of the claims are objected to because of the following informalities:

The claims all refer to the structure of claim 1, however there is no structure recited in claim 1.

Art Unit: 2837

The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not). Appropriate correction is required.

The claims merely recite structure dimensions and fail to recite any structural interconnections between the recited elements. The claims are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure, which goes to make up the device, must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. Note the format of the claims in the patent(s) cited. The narrative form of the claims includes the phrases "wherein using the device will quickly and easily...", etc. Appropriate correction is required.

With regard to the method claims the claims recite no active method steps. An example of a method claim is: A method of using the device of claim 2 whereby drilling the cylinder... etc."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. All of the claims are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claim recites various limitations for example: "the steel shaft" and "the hole". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. The applicant is behooved to review all of the claims for such lack of antecedent basis informalities.

The claims for recite terminology that is considered intended us for example "the device in claim 1 will quickly and easily effect the removal f a grand piano pin block.....", etc. It has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647.

The phraseology « the pin block is removed in the same manner as above is indefinite".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. All of the claims are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Krick.

As the invention is best understood Krick discloses the use of an extractor tool with a cylinder with a diameter, a length, (column 2, lines 37-47) and a whole through its entire length. The tool as disclosed by Krick also includes a shaft fully threaded into the hole (see figure 1).

Kirk does not specifically disclose the diameters as disclosed by the applicant.

However it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device as disclosed y Krick to include the specific diameters in order to provide an efficient extracting tool since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

An examination of this application reveals that applicant is unfamiliar with patent prosecution procedure. While an inventor may prosecute the application, lack of skill in this field usually acts as a liability in affording the maximum protection for the invention disclosed. Applicant is advised to secure the services of a registered patent attorney or agent to prosecute the application, since the value of a patent is largely dependent upon skilled preparation and prosecution. The Office cannot aid in selecting an attorney or agent.

Applicant is advised of the availability of the publication "Attorneys and Agents Registered to Practice Before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office."
